Obama… the victim and hangman

One of the candidates for the U.S. presidency said to the African American candidate Jesse Jackson in the eighties of the past century: “A day will come when the president of the United States will be black but it won’t be you Jesse”, three decades passed and his prophecy came true with the arrival of Barak Obama who is from African descent to the White House, despite of the manifestations of racial discrimination that are still hanging over America and which Obama himself wasn't spared from it even though he is the one sitting behind the round desk in the White House.

The current visit of Obama to plagued Africa spilled a lot of ink, the defeatists considered it a great victory, and that is the nature of the defeated when he is plundered from awareness and will together, and if they kept this visit in its real context they would have been certain that they are following a mirage which they believe is water, but when they reach they find that it is nothing, and find the American military bases occupying their land and Exxon Mobil and its sisters draining their wealth and the treatment of their poverty and backwardness postponed for an indefinite period, until the Africans get rid from their susceptibility to colonization and the complex of sense of inferiority before the arrogant racist white hangman.

The return of Obama to Africa isn't an isolated act rather it is a culmination for the wide policy of American penetration in the African continent which began almost two decades ago and in particular in the Clinton presidency and after a silent invasion for the AFRICOM forces that overrun the countries of north and west Africa with secret bases like the Tamanrasset base in Algeria or declared ones like Tétouan in Morocco and Tiaret in Mauritania and other in west Africa, in a feverish race with China and France the traditional occupier of north and west Africa.

Before three decades or just over I read in one of the Algerian journalists, a weird method adopted by the Egyptian government, to combat the phenomenon of the propagation of rats in Cairo this (very economic) method is summed up in capturing a group of rats and instead of killing them they feed them to satiety then they seam off their backside to prevent them from defecation then they free them, for the rats to begin to suffer with the pain and the pain turns to an aggression against the other rats by killing and wounding, so the Egyptian government gets rid of Cairo's sewers rats by original rats from that sewers, which is the same story of the exposed American occupation repeated everyday with Barak Obama who is from African descent, with a simple difference between the killing rats and killer Obama is that the rats killed its fellows under the coercion of pain while Obama returned to his continent to conquer his people and kill them, under the pressure of temptation, the temptation of authority and fame and cameras and cheers of the deceived Africans.

We ask what will Obama bring to Africa? Is there anything left for America to present to humanity? Is it anything different from the oppressive dictatorships after the officer Snowden removed the mulberry paper? Isn't Obama ashamed from meeting the presidents after he broke his promise to close Guantanamo and secret prisons? What are the morals which he will talk about after he approved the law of homosexuals and gays that contradicts with all the religions and correct Fitrah and the messenger of Allah peace and blessings of Allah be upon him, who was sent a mercy to the worlds was right when he said: "Among the words people obtained from the First Prophecy are: If you feel no shame, then do as you wish", so do whatever you wish Obama after buried the dress of shame with homosexuals law.

The last thing is we remind Obama that the rat ended with death from severe pain, and he will end under the ascendancy of the American law which bans him from running for presidency once again, and the deeds of men and their stances remain engraved in the memory of history passed from generation to generation, and the Americans will curse you because you are strange from them and they will remember that your name is associated with the defeat of America in Afghanistan – what is left of America -, and you will be cursed by your people and your continent because you returned to their necks the shackles of your white master who is hiding behind AIPAC, Hellbrton, Exxon Mobil and Facebook, and you won't enter the hearts of the Africans that were occupied by the free chivalrous Muslim Malik El-Shabazz who paid with his life to liberate humanity from the racist arrogant America, and there is great difference between a political status that ends with a law and a emotional status that isn't erased as years pass so may Allah have mercy on you Malik El-Shabazz and a salutation for you alone (and Allah is the master of His affair, but most people do not know) Wa Akhiru Dawana anil Hamdulliahi Rabbilalameen. Only for freemen.
